

Ever think,

“I’m bored. There’s nothing to do.” Try this...

Take apart an old radio and see what’s inside. Splash in a puddle.

Watch a caterpillar walk across a tree branch.

Look out the car window while someone else is driving and ride the imaginary horse that is galloping alongside .

Hike through the woods and notice the hobbits and elves that live in the trees and under the rocks.

Shoot hoops in the backyard basketball court and hear the applause as you win the game.

Plunk around on the strings inside a baby grand piano.

And know that when you are alone, free from all adult agendas, and have plenty of time to dream, your creativity will come alive, and your imagination will soar!

“Logic will get you from A to B, imagination will get you everywhere.”

~ Albert Einstein

(1879 - 1955)

German-born theoretical physicist who won worldwide fame for his general theory of relativity and a Nobel Prize in 1921 for his explanation of the phenomenon known as the photoelectric effect.
